

ABSTRACT

A heat dissipation method for microprocessors to dissipate heat for a microprocessor of low power consumption includes a fan directly mounting on the microprocessor. The fan directs external cold air to the microprocessor to perform heat exchange and to achieve heat dissipation object.